Liberty General Insurance launches bicycle cover

Bicycles are usually insured under home and contents insurance. But this may not cover your bicycle when you are on the road. The new Liberty Bicycle Protect Plus' from Liberty General Insurance offers insurance if the bicycle is being used for commuting or being ridden on mountains. It provides cover if the bicycle is vandalised, damaged or stolen, or if you fall off the bicycle and hurt yourself or a third party. There is an option to buy a single policy with longer duration of two to three years. It offers roadside assistance, loss of personal belongings, personal accident protection and public liability protection.
